

Wednesday, April 22. : : : 1891

New Advertisements.
 Everybody—F. W. Habenicht.
 We Offer You Today—Ketchin & Cathcart.
 How Does This Strike You—D. Lauderdale.
 Clothing and Millinery—Q. D. Williford & Co.
 Notice—W. H. Hoff and Others, Corporators.
 Style, Quality, Taste—McMaster, Brice & Ketchin.

Local Items.
 —Rev. J. R. McAlpine occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday.
 —Summer is here in earnest, the thermometer ranging for the last few days up in the eighties.

—See what D. Lauderdale has to say about the price of granulated sugar in their new advertisement.
 —Miss Mary Rowe is back at the store of J. M. Beatty & Bro., where she will be glad to see her friends.

—There was a large trade in town on Saturday. One of our leading dry goods and clothing stores reports sales amounting to over $500.
 —Mr. W. J. Shelton, of the Charleston World, paid our sanction a flying visit on Thursday. Jake paid up his subscription like a little man.

—We are indebted to Messrs. J. D. McCarty & Co. for some very fine oranges. They were the largest and best flavored we have tasted this season.

—Ketchin & Cathcart are out to-day with a new announcement, they have a full line of groceries. Magnolia hams are good and they have them for sale.

—We regret that want of space crowds out an account of the very enjoyable excursion to Rockton on Saturday. Everybody had a good time and acknowledge their indebtedness to Manager, St. Amant.

—The dance in the armory on last Friday night was a very pleasant affair. The attendance was not large, but those who were present enjoyed themselves and went home in the "wee sun" hours on Saturday morning.

—Messrs. Macaulay & Turner have put up a handsome and durable iron awning frame in front of their store. It is something new and we understand it was designed by Mr. Robert Simpson of the Wimsboro Wagon Company.

—Mr. John G. Brown, who has been suffering a great deal with one of his eyes, had it removed on Wednesday. It was a severe and difficult operation. The doctors say he is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

—The attention of smokers is called to F. W. Habenicht's new advertisement. He certainly has a large stock of cigars of all kinds, colors and quality, and one that can't get suited out of this assortment must be hard to suit. Try him.

—The safe for the new bank has been placed in position. It took Messrs. Walker and Croight, with a large force of hands, and two mules, 12 hours to move it from the depot to the banking room. It is an elegant piece of work. We will describe it more fully in another issue.

—We are indebted to the Wimsboro Hotel Bar for a refreshing treat on Friday—lemonade, mint juleps, etc. They came in very good in the middle of the day, as it was very warm in our sanctum. Friend Willingham is certainly a good hand at mixing. We like your sample and you can call again.

—Special attention is called to the new advertisement of McMaster, Brice & Ketchin in to-day's issue. They call special attention to their millinery department, which is full and complete in every respect, and in charge of a first-class artist, who is not unknown here. Their millinery parlors are well worthy of a visit.

—The new building for the use of the colored fire companies is nearly completed, and they expect to move in about May 1st, and we expect those companies to show their appreciation of this act of the Town Council by a continuance of their good work in the past, adding a little more drill and a little more discipline to it.

—Policeman Gilbert arrested a white man on Tuesday at the request, by telegram, of the policeman at Ridgeway. No cause was assigned, and Mr. Gilbert telegraphed to Ridgeway to learn what the man was charged with. The policeman refused to receive the telegram or furnish any charges against the prisoner and he was discharged. He went on his way rejoicing.

—Read Q. D. Williford & Co.'s new advertisement in to-day's issue. They seem to be highly pleased with their past season, but don't propose to call a halt yet. They have an immense stock of goods yet on hand, notwithstanding their big trade. They believe in keeping trade up by keeping prices down. This is a good way to do it. Give them a call; their stores are worth a visit, whether you want to buy or not.

—Our genial fellow citizen, Mr. James C. Smith, returned on the early train Friday morning, from Mississippi, where he had been, as we stated in a recent issue, on business of importance. He transacted business to the satisfaction of all parties concerned and brought with him his handsome bride. They both have the congratulations, and best wishes of THE NEWS and HERALD for their future prosperity and happiness.

—The new council have not yet been sworn in; the old officials still retain their positions. This is owing to the fact that the new issue of bonds now in the hands of the printers have the names of the Intendant and Clerk of the Council now in office engraved on the coupons, and it is desirable for the sake of uniformity that the same names shall be signed to the bonds, consequently, the new Council will not be sworn in, until the bonds have been signed by the present Intendant and Clerk.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

HOUSE BREAKING.—Perry, otherwise known as "Tunch" Holly, was lodged in jail on Tuesday, charged with breaking into a house on Mr. James Stewart's place, and stealing therefrom a ham.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

WANTED.—Twenty-five head of good milch cows, fifty head of heifers, springers and dry cows. Parties having such cattle for sale will do well to correspond with me before selling. All correspondence will receive prompt attention either by letter or in person by J. W. POWELL, Monticello, S. C.

DEATH OF REUBEN MOBLEY.—Died on Tuesday, the 14th inst., at the residence of Edward P. Mobley, Jr., Mr. Reuben Mobley, in the 64th year of his age. He was the son of the late John Mobley and a brother of Mrs. Edward P. Mobley, Sr. He had been living on his own place near Woodward up to January last, when, in cutting down a tree he was struck by a limb and permanently injured, and his nephew, E. P. Mobley, Jr., took him to his home to care for him, where he died.

A GORDON IN CHARLOTTE.—There is an old saying that you "can't" down a working man; it is also true that you can't down a Gordon. The officer in command of the troops now guarding the jail in Charlotte is T. Ross Robertson, Captain of the Horse's Best Rifles, a graduate from the Gordons, having been at one time a sergeant in that company. If our North Carolina neighbor needs any more help, we can furnish it, though we believe Captain Ross can hold up his end of the line.

FOR BRACING UP THE NERVES.—Purifying the blood and curing sick headache and dyspepsia, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SEMINARY MEETING.—The Fairfield Division of the Survivors of the Sixth Regiment met in the Town Hall on Saturday last, Vice-President S. R. Johnston in the chair. In the absence of the secretary, W. H. Kerr, H. A. Gaillard was appointed secretary pro tem. A resolution was passed recommending all the old officers, with the exception of Vice-President Glenn, deceased, and Secretary and Treasurer W. H. Kerr. Mr. Kerr's place was filled by the election of W. F. Jackson, and the vacancy caused by the death of H. A. Glenn was not filled.

There was not a full attendance, but those present enjoyed themselves, recounting old war tales, and reviving their patriotism in a spiritual way.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Claud Gladden, of Chester, spent Sunday in town.

Col. R. J. McCarty returned on Saturday. He is looking well and says he had a good time.

Dr. H. B. McMaster arrived on Sunday from Waynesboro, Ga. We learn the Doctor is going North for a trip.

Mrs. T. P. Mitchell is on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Chalmers.

Mr. J. H. Skinner has returned from a visit to Barnwell.

Miss Emily W. Thomas who has been in town some time with the family of Mrs. C. S. Dwight, has returned to Ridgeway.

Mrs. T. S. Bryan, of Columbia, who has been on a short visit to her parents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Jordan, returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. John D. McCarty left this week for Savannah with his race horses.

Mr. John Doty and his mother, Mrs. Jas. A. Doty and children, who have been on a visit to Mr. W. H. Doty, left on Wednesday for their home in Point Leavelle, Ky.

Miss Helen Huff of Rock Hill, left on Wednesday for her home.

Mrs. John G. Gladden left on Thursday for Athens, Ga., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Hally Burton.

Mrs. E. J. Garrison, of Columbia, is in town on a visit to friends and relatives.

Mrs. J. P. Caldwell returned on Friday from Rock Hill, where she has been on a visit.

Mrs. J. R. McAlpine arrived on Friday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Elliott.

Mrs. Jno. Turner, of Mississippi, is in town. Mrs. Turner is a sister of Mrs. J. B. Propst and an aunt of Mr. J. B. Kennedy, of this county. She left South Carolina about 1845. She will spend some time visiting relatives and friends in the town and county.

VEGETABLES IN FLORIDA.

Messrs. Editors: I am very sorry to hear of old Fairfield having so much rain. As for Florida we have had very little rain for the past six months. We at this time have plenty of vegetables of all kinds. I would be glad to see some of my old friends of Wimsboro down here to get a square vegetable dinner, such as beans, cucumbers, lettuce, cabbage, etc. Will write more later on.

R. M. McCLEURE, Stonewall, Fla., April 15.

WIMSBORO'S GALA DAY.

THE GORDONS INSPECTED BY THE ADJUTANT GENERAL.

They Successfully Sustain Their Reputation—Fifty Men Present. Only One Being Absent—Collection at the Armory—Farley on the New South—Toasting, Speaking, Singing and Dancing—An Occasion that will Long be Remembered.

If there are any two days in the year, before which the eyes of the citizens of Wimsboro the Fourth of July and Washington's birthday dwindle into nothingness, it is inspection day, and the Gordon picnic day.

We cannot truthfully say promptly on time, but as promptly as possible on Monday afternoon the Gordons, fifty strong, with only one man absent (and he would have been there if possible), marched to the College Green to pass through what everybody thought would be a trying ordeal. With a large number of war recruits, and having had a very short and unexpected notice from the Adjutant General to prepare for inspection, and then having the time granted, short as it was, made still shorter by the orders of Gen. Greely in command of the weather department of this grand nation, the officers of the company, as well as the men themselves, would have been more than men had they not felt some misgivings as to the result of their evening's work. But if Gen. Greely or General, Colonel or Captain anybody else thought they would catch our Gordons napping, they were left, and that very badly.

The company, on arriving at the green, promptly got into position, and after a little preliminary drilling, at the command of the Adjutant General, "pass your command in review," marched past the inspecting officer with the steady step of veterans. Gen. Farley was satisfied, and proceeded to inspect the arms and equipments, which he did very carefully. He found nothing contraband in the cartridge boxes because "they ain't built that way," we presume.

General Farley thought the thing was over with, but Capt. Jordan thought he would let the boys out "just a little bit," and proceeded to give Gen. Farley a small exhibition of what they could do—sort of a sample as it were. The evening was warm, and Capt. Jordan, ever merciful to his men, did not want to overtax them, but the boys for once in their lives took the bit in their mouths, and there was shown such an exhibition of drilling, first in the manual and then in field movements, as has seldom been excelled anywhere. It must have done Capt. Jordan's heart good, and rewarded him for his many years of service to this command. Of course we do not intend to convey the idea that everything was perfect, but when the raw men are taken into consideration and the short time given for preparation, it was a fine exhibition, and the citizens, who take such interest and pride in the company, are satisfied.

Gen. Farley was provided with a fine saddle horse, and Mr. Q. D. Williford detailed to act as his aide on this occasion. He expressed himself on the field as highly pleased with the company and agreeably surprised, though he had heard a great deal about their past reputation.

At nine o'clock the company, with several invited guests, assembled at the armory to partake of a spread that was given in honor of the visit of Gen. Farley. The room was brilliantly lighted, and a table spread, with seats for about sixty-five persons, and was well laden with "productions" furnished by our well known caterer, F. W. Habenicht.

Capt. Jordan sat at the head of the table and presided with his accustomed skill and grace. Gen. Farley sat at his right hand. When it comes to a supper or dinner table, the Gordons do not need any command to charge; they just see the enemy in front of them, and every man singles out an enemy (in the shape of something good to eat, not forgetting the fluids), saying to himself, "you're my meat," and goes for him, and that enemy disappears; but Fritz kept sending fresh battalions to the scene of conflict, only to have them slaughtered as were their predecessors, and when the boys got through there was none of the solid part of the enemy left except a few bones. Cigars were lighted and then the fun began.

Capt. Jordan, in a few well chosen remarks, called attention to the fact that this occasion was the fifteenth anniversary of the company; they had been in existence fourteen years, and notwithstanding the many difficulties they had to contend with, had gone on without reorganization under almost the same officers. He congratulated the men on the work of the day and said he was more than satisfied at the result. While he would not say they were the best drilled men in the State, he would say they were the best disciplined, and if the inspection had been postponed three weeks he would have shown General Farley some drilling that would have opened his eyes, but he would say in the language of THE NEWS and HERALD, "Watch the Gordon Light Infantry in Columbia." Capt. Jordan's remarks were received with loud and long continued applause.

After quiet had been restored, and another charge made on a fresh supply of the enemy, Capt. Jordan introduced as the first speaker, Adjutant and Inspector General Farley, who was received with applause. Gen. Farley began his remarks by making some allusions to his first visit to Wimsboro, which was near the close of the war. His next visit was last year, when Capt. Jordan gave him some punch that made him want to come back again, and that badly. Speaking for the Administration, as he said he had a right to do, he said it would be his policy to do his full duty to the military of the State without regard to parties. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the condition of the Company, not only in the field, but also with the comforts and conveniences of the Armory. He would not pass on this company the old stereotype compliment of saying they were the best he had seen, but he would say they were as good as any, and he had passed over a good portion of the State. He had heard the company up as a model to other companies in the State, and hoped the day would soon come when every other company in the State would become as efficient and as well provided for in every way as this one. He would tell the Columbia companies when he went back to Columbia that the company that beat the Gordons would take the cake. He then threw out some suggestions with reference to the uniforms in use, advocating a uniform that would be the same all over the State. He spoke eloquently and feelingly of the past, its men and achievements. There was nothing in it, or in the conduct of her sons, of which the present generation had any right or cause to be ashamed, but, on the contrary, everything to be proud of, to excite our admiration and to cause us to strive and follow their example. He did not believe in the popular cry of the new South. There was and would be no new South except what the men of the South themselves saw fit to make it.

General Farley's speech, of which the above is but a shadow, was frequently interrupted by applause, and he sat down amidst a perfect storm of applause and cheers. General Farley made a good impression and the boys will be glad to see him again.

More enemy slain. And after loud calls being made for him by the entire assembly, Mr. E. B. Ragsdale struggled to his feet amid a storm of cheers. It would be impossible for any one to report Mr. Ragsdale's speech. He had your reporter at one time so enchanted by his eloquence and the next minute so convulsed with laughter that he just had to lay down his pencil; but he does remember that he heard the Gordons, both officers and men, some good advice about "always being ready for inspection," and as Mr. R. is a very temperate man, and thinking perhaps the boys might begin to indulge too freely in lemonade, he related to them the story of a lady temperance lecturer, which stopped the flow of wine for a while.

Mr. R. spoke eloquently of some of the military characters of the world and the military feeling prevailing throughout this country, and promised in case New Orleans or Charleston were attacked to join the Gordons.

Mr. McDonald proposed the health of the Lee Light Infantry of Chester, and called on Mr. Berry, of Chester, to respond, which he did briefly, promising always the touch of the elbow between the two commands.

Loud calls were made for Junior 2nd Lieutenant McDonald who responded briefly. He was in a bad fix; he had been drilling all afternoon in a coat about five sizes too small for him and it had nearly squeezed his breath out, still he got there when he started and made a very happy speech, which the boys applauded with energy.

The Captain then introduced an ex-member of the company—the former heavy weight, W. L. McDonald—who made a fine speech, speaking in elegant terms of the character of the men of the State in the past whose character was above reproach, and thinking possibly as he was away from home and his wife would not hear about it, closed with an eloquent eulogy on woman, saying he loved them all.

Mr. DuBois Eggleston, on being called for, started out well, but, to use a racing phrase, broke at the quarter pole. It was his own fault. He was relating some incidents of the war that occurred during the stay of his company in Charleston. He got milk and milk punch, whiskey and whiskey cocktail all mixed up (I don't mean in drinking it but in relating the incident) in such a manner that the boys got the speech completely out of his head.

Mr. Geo. H. McMaster, on being called on, responded in his usual happy style.

no: pass on this company the old stereotype compliment of saying they were the best he had seen, but he would say they were as good as any, and he had passed over a good portion of the State. He had heard the company up as a model to other companies in the State, and hoped the day would soon come when every other company in the State would become as efficient and as well provided for in every way as this one. He would tell the Columbia companies when he went back to Columbia that the company that beat the Gordons would take the cake. He then threw out some suggestions with reference to the uniforms in use, advocating a uniform that would be the same all over the State. He spoke eloquently and feelingly of the past, its men and achievements. There was nothing in it, or in the conduct of her sons, of which the present generation had any right or cause to be ashamed, but, on the contrary, everything to be proud of, to excite our admiration and to cause us to strive and follow their example. He did not believe in the popular cry of the new South. There was and would be no new South except what the men of the South themselves saw fit to make it.

General Farley's speech, of which the above is but a shadow, was frequently interrupted by applause, and he sat down amidst a perfect storm of applause and cheers. General Farley made a good impression and the boys will be glad to see him again.

More enemy slain. And after loud calls being made for him by the entire assembly, Mr. E. B. Ragsdale struggled to his feet amid a storm of cheers. It would be impossible for any one to report Mr. Ragsdale's speech. He had your reporter at one time so enchanted by his eloquence and the next minute so convulsed with laughter that he just had to lay down his pencil; but he does remember that he heard the Gordons, both officers and men, some good advice about "always being ready for inspection," and as Mr. R. is a very temperate man, and thinking perhaps the boys might begin to indulge too freely in lemonade, he related to them the story of a lady temperance lecturer, which stopped the flow of wine for a while.

Mr. R. spoke eloquently of some of the military characters of the world and the military feeling prevailing throughout this country, and promised in case New Orleans or Charleston were attacked to join the Gordons.

Mr. McDonald proposed the health of the Lee Light Infantry of Chester, and called on Mr. Berry, of Chester, to respond, which he did briefly, promising always the touch of the elbow between the two commands.

Loud calls were made for Junior 2nd Lieutenant McDonald who responded briefly. He was in a bad fix; he had been drilling all afternoon in a coat about five sizes too small for him and it had nearly squeezed his breath out, still he got there when he started and made a very happy speech, which the boys applauded with energy.

The Captain then introduced an ex-member of the company—the former heavy weight, W. L. McDonald—who made a fine speech, speaking in elegant terms of the character of the men of the State in the past whose character was above reproach, and thinking possibly as he was away from home and his wife would not hear about it, closed with an eloquent eulogy on woman, saying he loved them all.

Mr. DuBois Eggleston, on being called for, started out well, but, to use a racing phrase, broke at the quarter pole. It was his own fault. He was relating some incidents of the war that occurred during the stay of his company in Charleston. He got milk and milk punch, whiskey and whiskey cocktail all mixed up (I don't mean in drinking it but in relating the incident) in such a manner that the boys got the speech completely out of his head.

Mr. Geo. H. McMaster, on being called on, responded in his usual happy style.

Your reporter very briefly did the honors to the toast THE NEWS and HERALD.

After this the affair was a sort of go-as-you-please race. The fun was kept up until a late hour. Mr. J. E. McDonald sang some very pretty songs, and surprised the audience with his powers of music. They don't know Mr. J. E. McDonald, but he is an old hand at music and can sing almost any kind you want. Messrs. W. L. McDonald and E. B. Ragsdale entertained the crowd by singing a duet, which was highly enjoyed. We would like to print it here but space forbids. Singing and old fashioned jig dancing were indulged in until a late hour when the company dispersed.

It was a most enjoyable affair and was well managed, reflecting credit on the committee in charge, who were Messrs. Seigler, McDonald, Landeale, L. Landeale and Crosby.

Long live the Gordons! say we.

—High or low tariff does not concern poultry, America's greatest industry, but Gaiter's magic chicken cholera cure does. Sold by Dr. W. E. Aiken.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever, Itch, Chapped Hands, Chills, Burns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by McMASTERS, Brice & Ketchin.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Child, she clung to Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

NOTICE.

EDGAR TRAPP, Jennings, S.C.

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a quick remedy that quickly destroys the Microbes that cause Cholera, has saved many chickens from being killed by Cholera. It is Gaiter's Magic Chicken Cholera Cure. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is easy to use. After using two or three of a bottle you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.

For sale by DR. W. E. AIKEN, Wimsboro S. C.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms.

After symptoms, Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local sympathy, removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, and I did not eat much. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all gone feeling. I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1.50 per bottle. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apocryphics, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

TAKE BOTANIC BLOOD BALM FOR ALL SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES.

The Best Household Medicine.

Once or twice each year the system needs a good purgative.

Take Botanic Blood Balm for all skin and blood diseases.

It cures all cases with the same certainty of good results as BOTANIC BLOOD BALM.

W. C. McGashey, Webb City, Ark., writes: "B. B. B. has done me more good and for less money than any other blood purifier I have ever used. I depend on B. B. B. for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."

Write for Illustrated "Book of Wonders," BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Sent free.

NOTICE.

A COMMISSION having been duly granted, under the statute in such cases provided, the books of subscription to the capital stock of the Ridgeway Savings and Loan Association will be open at A. P. Huff & Co.'s store in Ridgeway, S. C., on April 21.

W. H. RUFF, I. C. THOMAS, W. J. JOHNSON, F. W. WATSON, S. F. COOPER, J. S. COOPER, J. S. EDWARDS, Corporators.

LAND FOR SALE.

I OFFER for sale on reasonable terms a very desirable tract of land, containing about three (300) Hundred Acres, and situated on the Columbia road near the village of Monticello.

The plantation contains a large proportion of pine, and is well watered by different springs and branches, with a considerable amount of very fine bottom.

On the place is a comparatively comfortable dwelling and other necessary out-buildings. Taken upon the whole it is seldom that so desirable a place can be found for sale.

For further information apply to the subscriber at his home, or by letter to Monticello, S. C.

2-28x14x11 J. K. DAVIS.

HOW DOES THIS STRIKE YOU?

16 1-2 POUNDS

Granulated -- Sugar

—FOR—

ONE DOLLAR

THAT IS THE WAY IT IS NOW SELLING

—AT—

D. LAUDERDALE'S.

COTTON GINS REPAIRED

FROM March to October. The sooner the better, as work is scarce in the early months of spring and summer.